Volume 1, Issue 1

January 2006

New Leaders in 2006

We are pleased to serve as the new leaders for our wonderful group. Enclosed in this newsletter, you will find news on our group and information on how you can participate more actively by joining the Married Couples Group Advisory Committee. We look forward to a wonderful year, filled with activities, learning and growing our faith in Christ.

Yours in Service,

Cindy and Mike Murphy

The Married Couples Group Belayers' (person who secures the climbers) Pass The Rope

Danielle and Patrick McCay have lead the married couples group for several years. They have provided leadership, advice, great party planning skills and always a great evening for many of us. Understandably, 2006 became the year where "the rope" needed a transition and the search for new leaders began. As Christ would have it, Mike and I were looking for some type of ministry to do together at St. Brigid's. The McCay's request took some time to process, but we clearly knew it was Christ's calling.

The Danielle and Patrick have brought several events to the Married Couples Group, such as renewal of vows in May, rock climbing in June and in depth discussions lead by Diocesan leaders on teaching morals and values to our children. We thank Danielle and Patrick for their commitment and dedication shared throughout the years. As rock climbers would say, "You're Stylin'".

Join the Married Couples Group (MCG) Advisory Committee

January marks the start of a new year which often brings resolutions. Some of us resolve to exercise consistently, drink less Starbucks, lose a couple pounds or give more time to God. We can help you with one of these, commit to joining the St. Brigid Married Couple's Group Advisory Committee

The MCG was formed to bring together married couples of the parish to share their walk as husband and wife. Our mission is to support each other in friendship, fun, spiritual enrichment and fellowship. If you are interested in hosting an event or serving on the Advisory Committee please contact Cindy or Mike Murphy.
